

"Tazigen Festival vol. 3" report by UBI Quitous

11th of December, 2015

I have held "Tazigen Festival vol.3" in Berlin, Germany on 7,8,9th of August.
We have an opening party and an after party at a music venue called "Marie-Antoinette", and the festival itself was held at a church called "Heilig-Kreuz-Kirche".
There were DJ and musicians from several countries performed at Marie-Antoinette, and collaborations between musicians, a dancer, a painter, a poet, a photographer at Heilig-Kreuz-Kirche.

To accomplish the festival, I could get many help from people living in Berlin.
I had arrived in Berlin in June, contracted and negotiated with the venues, prepared all kinds of things, also toured in several countries in Europe to promote the festival.
Local organizers advised and helped about promotions, price and distributions of tickets.
Several Japanese musicians living there performed at the opening and after party.
I met all the people including interpreters, translators, receptionist, photographers, video camera crews, and people who can do other miscellaneous duties in Berlin.
Audiences are from Germany, Poland, Japan and other countries, although there are not so many people there but they concentrated a lot and seemed to have enjoyed the show.
We got positive reactions like "I want to spread the festival", "When will you do the next one?" and so on.

Before the festival, I did crowd fundraising project in Japan through a company called "Makuake" between 1st of May and 29th of June.
Held several events in Tokyo in May, including collaboration performances aimed for the festival in Berlin by Japanese performers.
Audiences were full at the pre-event at Shinsekai in Roppongi, Tokyo on 14th May, and people donated a lot.
It was the premiere performance of a song called "Ubiquitous Love", a composer Tomoaki Saito exclusively wrote for Tazigen Festival vol.3.
On 25th of July, Japanese performers gathered and held an event at Ringrace in Akasaka, Tokyo, including an online performance by UBI Quitous in Berlin via Skype.
After the festival, there was a final performance and an after party at Sarava Tokyo in Shibuya, Tokyo on 29th of October by all Japanese performers.

Finally, I really appreciate all the performers and people who help the festival directly and indirectly in Japan, Germany and other countries.
